VIRGINIA PLAYS HARVARD HERE

Game Has Been Set for April 18.

ORTH TO COACH VIRGINIA

Manager Somerville Announces Schedule—Council, Star Pitcher and Football Player, Leaves College.

Manager "Jack" Somerville, of the University of Virginia baseball team, has announced his schedule for the season of 1934, and Washington lovers of college baseball will be glad to see that the Virginians and the ball tossers of old Harvard will cross bats in Washington this year, the teams being scheduled to meet here on Monday, April 18.

Both colleges have many followers here, and as they always put up a good game, a large attendance will mark their appearance in the city. They have not met in Washington in two years, and it is curious to note that while Virginia has more than once beaten Yale, Princeton, and Pennsylvania in baseball, not only on her own grounds, but on the home grounds of each of the other teams as well, she has never been able to down Harvard. Upon one occasion, at Charlottesville, Harvard and Virginia played eleven innings to a tie, the game being called on account of darkness, with the score standing 1 to 1; but that is as near to victory as Virginia ever came when facing Harvard players.

Twenty-eight Games.

The Virginia schedule calls for twenty-eight games, most of which will be played on the home grounds. Brown, Lafayette, Harvard, Yale, Lehigh, Pennsylvania, and Cornell are the big teams she will play. The Southern teams on the schedule are: Annapolis, University of Maryland, Johns Hopkins, St. John's, Hampden-Sydney, Virginia Polytechnic, and last, but not least, the University of North Carolina, with whom there are three games arranged for the championship of the South.

Last year Carolina took two straight games from Virginia without any trouble, and followed it up in the autumn by taking the football championship of the South. Virginia cares more for her Carolina games than she does for all the rest put together, and will bend every effort to wipe out the defeat she sustained at the hands of her rival last year. To this end the services of Al Orth, the Washington ball player, who left a few days ago, have been secured. The departure from college of Council, the crack tackle and pitcher, who left a few days ago, has crippled Virginia materially. Council had trouble with his studies, and the first thing his fellow-students knew he was packed up and making for the train.

Pitchers Needed.

With Council gone the pitching department of Virginia's team will be weakened, and Orth will be asked to give his special attention to the pitchers. There is some good material for him to work on, but most of the men are inexperienced. With such a good man as Orth over them, however, the pitching staff should develop to the point of safety by the time the big games are played. The following is the schedule announced by Manager Somerville:

Saturday, March 12—Woodberry Forest at Charlottesville.
Monday, March 14—Miller School at Charlottesville.
Thursday, March 17—Pantops Academy at Charlottesville.
Saturday, March 19—Fehrburne Military Academy at Charlottesville.
Tuesday, March 22—St. Albans at Charlottesville.
Friday, March 25—Brown University at Charlottesville.
Saturday, March 26—Brown University at Charlottesville.
Tuesday, March 29—St. John's College at Charlottesville.
Wednesday, March 30—Lafayette at Charlottesville.
Thursday, March 31—Lafayette at Charlottesville.
Saturday, April 2—Yale at Norfolk.
Monday, April 4—Yale at Charlottesville.
Tuesday, April 5—Lehigh at Charlottesville.
Wednesday, April 6—Pennsylvania at Charlottesville.
Thursday, April 7—Pennsylvania at Charlottesville.
Saturday, April 9—Cornell at Charlottesville.
Tuesday, April 12—Hampden-Sydney at Charlottesville.
Thursday, April 14—Virginia Polytechnic Institute at Charlottesville.
Saturday, April 16—United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.
Monday, April 18—Harvard at Washington.
Tuesday, April 19—Washington and Lee at Charlottesville.
Thursday, April 21—Agricultural and Mechanical College at Raleigh, N. C.
Friday, April 22—University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.
Saturday, April 23—University of North Carolina at Greensboro.
Wednesday, April 27—University of Maryland at Charlottesville.
Friday, April 29—Wake Forest College at Charlottesville.
Friday, May 6—Johns Hopkins University at Charlottesville.
May 7 or 9—University of North Carolina at Charlottesville.

HARVARD'S BASKETBALL TEAM PLAYS TONIGHT

BOSTON, Feb. 19.—The Harvard basketball team left Cambridge for Princeton and Philadelphia last night, and after its game with the Tigers tonight and with Pennsylvania on Saturday night, it is expected that the team will be disbanded.

THEFT OF BLOCK TIN.

Commandant J. M. Bowyer, of the Navy Yard, has reported to the police that some one, in possession of a duplicate key, entered one of the store lockers at the yard, and removed five bars of block tin. The value of the tin is $25.

INDOOR ENTRIES ARE ANNOUNCED

Athletes to Appear in the Georgetown Meet.

DUFFEY TO FACE GOOD MEN

Interesting Long Distance Runs—Large Contingent of School Boys Expected—Relay Teams Matched.

With an entry list of three hundred, which is greater than that of any Georgetown meet in past years, and most competent corps of officials, headed by James E. Sullivan, as referee, the management of Georgetown's sixth annual indoor athletic carnival at Convention Hall tomorrow evening is confident that the affair will surpass any past meet held under the auspices of the Blue and Gray Athletic Association.

Not only are all the students at the University keyed up, but the interest extends to athletes of prominence throughout the East. There are twenty-two events on the program, including sprints, middle-distance and long-distance runs, high jump, shot-put, and thirteen of the ever-popular relay races between rival schools and colleges. Among the good men entered in the 50-yard dash are Arthur Duffey, Georgetown; Torrey, Yale; Steeves, Columbia; Gould, Cornell, and Sullivan and Reilly, Georgetown.

Good Quarter-Milers.

The quarter-mile run has attracted such good performers as Joe Reilly, of Georgetown, holder of the world's record for the 40 yards indoors; Long, the best Yale quarter-miler; Underwood, of the New York Athletic Club; Shepard, of the Brown Prep School; Moreland, of Johns Hopkins; Hellman, of the Thirteenth Regiment, of New York, and Pierce, of the Boys' Latin School.

In the one-mile run, Al C. Grant, of the New York Athletic Club, holder of the world's record for that distance, is the star, but he will have before him such long-distance men as Windsor, of the New York Athletics; Griffith, of Johns Hopkins; Moffitt, Cornell, and W. G. Stewart, who is running under the colors of the National Law School, of this city.

The half-mile run should bring everybody in the big auditorium to their feet. In this event Parsons, of Yale, and Walsh, of Harvard, will toe the starting line, and, judging from the record, the race should be nip and tuck right to the finish. Parsons, who has won the half-mile run at the New York Athletic Club, formerly of the New York University, will have to contend with the Foot of the New York Athletic Club, in the best long jumper of the day, but, as he has such competitors as Matthews, of Columbia; Johnson, of Yale; Le Matt, of the University of Pennsylvania; and LeMoine, of the University of Maryland, he will have to be on his toes.

LeMoine May Come.

In the shot put the best known competitors are Curran, of Georgetown, and Stone, of Johns Hopkins, although LeMoine, of Harvard, has agreed to come if the Harvard faculty consent can be obtained. At the Boston Athletic Association games last Saturday evening, LeMoine defeated Dick Sheldon, of Yale, the former champion, and established a new indoor record.

The number of entries in the javelin and scholastic events surpassed the hopes of the most sanguine, and have drawn to Washington the cream of the scholastic runners of the Eastern States. Most prominent of these are Sexton, of Temple; Walker, of the local Tech; High, Cook, of Central; Fletcher, of Western; Leding, of Friends; Newton, of the Georgetown Prep; Perce, of the Boys' Latin; Dunn, of Friends' Select, and Beeson, of the Brown Prep. In the 800-yard run, the contest will be between Bard, of Washington School; Gamble, of the Newton, Georgetown Prep; Hopkins, of the University of Maryland; and Sexton, of Temple.

The Relay Races.

The relay races have been finally rearranged, and the different teams matched. These events will be as follows: Georgetown vs. Yale; Cornell vs. Columbia; Georgetown Law, Johns Hopkins, and Gallaudet; Thirteenth Regiment of New York vs. District National Guard; Washington Y. M. C. A. vs. Baltimore Y. M. C. A.; Potomac Boat Club vs. Ariel Boat Club; Western High School, Commercial High School, of Brooklyn, and Boys' Latin School, of Baltimore; Brown Prep School of Philadelphia, vs. Tome Institute, of Port Deposit; Georgetown Prep, Baltimore City College, and Penn Charter, of Philadelphia; 1901, 1902, 1903, and 1904, of Georgetown; In inter-class event, Junior Y. M. C. A., Franklin School, and Junior Boys' Latin School; Georgetown Prep, inter-class, and the Junior Y. M. C. A., "B" Friends' Select and the Junior Georgetown Prep.

KID HERMAN FAILS TO STOP ABE ATTELL

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Game little Kid Herman tried his level best to make good on the contract to put away ABE AtteLL in six rounds last night, but failed. Not only that, but AtteLL held a good lead on points on him all the way. Herman could not reach a vulnerable spot on the Californian, and as a matter of fact reached him in very few spots, vulnerable or otherwise. It was a rattling good go to watch. AtteLL's lightning feinting, brilliant blocking, and dazzling footwork offsetting the slashing, boring tactics of his hardy little aggressor. AtteLL demonstrated lack of condition, or he might have made even a better showing.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Game little Kid Herman tried his level best to make good on the contract to put away ABE AtteLL in six rounds last night, but failed. Not only that, but AtteLL held a good lead on points on him all the way. Herman could not reach a vulnerable spot on the Californian, and as a matter of fact reached him in very few spots, vulnerable or otherwise. It was a rattling good go to watch. AtteLL's lightning feinting, brilliant blocking, and dazzling footwork offsetting the slashing, boring tactics of his hardy little aggressor. AtteLL demonstrated lack of condition, or he might have made even a better showing.

BASEBALL MANAGERS ARE OF TWO KINDS

One "Bosses" From Bench, the Other From the Field—Which Is the Better?

The season of 1908 in baseball was conspicuous for the success of the player-manager. Pittsburgh won the pennant in the National
